

Lightning Storms

There is nothing like a lightning storm on the wide, open prairie. With no hills or mountains, or trees to deflect the sound wave, the thunder sounds like huge artillery cannons only louder. Sleep becomes a thing of the past, and if the noise wasn't enough, the huge amounts of rain certainly were.